

TIP OF THE WEEK

December 25, 2007

It's the holidays and work is the last thing on most people's mind this time of year, so I'll make this quick. Enjoy the family, party hardy, and get ready. Get ready because next week it's a whole new year.

Another chance to grow, make money, have fun. Another run at meeting your business plan goals and maybe even taking that long-postponed vacation. Many businesses are on a calendar year. If yours is, there's not a darn thing you can do to change the year that's about to end. At least nothing legal. If your fiscal year does not end now, just play along. Your time is coming. So get ready. Get set. And I'll speak to you next year.

Good luck. Work ON your business. Stay in touch.
